ACADEMIC SUPPORT

CHAMPIONS IN THE CLASSROOM

Perhaps no coach in the country has put more of an emphasis on academics than NC State's Tom O'Brien. The most important part of his three-pronged goal for the Wolfpack is academics, as he vows to make the Wolfpack,

"CHAMPIONS IN THE CLASSROOM, IN THE COMMUNITY & ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD."

But O'Brien doesn't just talk the talk - he has a proven track record of fielding outstanding teams that also boast outstanding accomplishments in the classroom. Under O'Brien's guidance, Boston College won the 2004 American Football Coaches' Association's graduation rate trophy. Seven other times during his 10-year tenure, the Eagles won honorable mention in the graduation rate battle (1998, 1999, 2000, 2002, 2003, 2005, 2006).

In the last six graduation ceremonies (December of 2007 through May of 2010), 43 Wolfpack football players have earned their degrees.

NC STATE UNIVERSITY

CHAMPIONS IN THE CLASSROOM

Consistently ranked among the nation's top 50 public universities and ranked by Princeton Review as a best value for students, NC State is a place where students can fit in – and dig in. Beginning their freshman year, NC State students start work on their major right away – whether it's conducting research alongside faculty or starting a challenging co-op or internship. While the student population is large, you won't get lost in the crowd. Faculty and staff are accessible, friendly and helpful.

Colleges of NC State: NC State University consists of 10 schools and colleges: College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, College of Design, College of Education, College of Engineering, College of Humanities and Social Sciences, College of Management, College of Natural Resources, College of Physical and Mathematical Sciences, College of Textiles, College of Veterinary Medicine as well as the First Year College and Graduate School.

CENTENNIAL CAMPUS

NC State University realized years ago that the answers to the world's most challenging issues—education, energy and sustainability, the environment and health—wouldn't come from a business-as-usual approach. The answers will come from technology, innovation and a partnership of great minds and leaders. That is the spirit that NC State's Centennial Campus was founded upon nearly 20 years ago. And today it continues even stronger as research, innovation and collaboration continue to unite - in November, Centennial Campus was named the top Research Science Park of the Year by the Association of University Research Parks (AURP).

A national model for university research campuses, Centennial Campus houses more than 130 companies, government agencies, and NC State research and academic units, including the colleges of Engineering, Textiles and Veterinary Medicine. More than 1,600 corporate and government employees work alongside 1,000-plus faculty, staff, post-docs, and students. These multi-disciplinary research and development neighborhoods let students work with faculty and leaders in their chosen field of study. Hands-on research and academic programs offer real-world experience through internships, corporate shadowing programs, and cooperative education assignments.

NC STATE UNIVERSITY

WE ALL GO TO NC STATE.
FOR ANSWERS. FOR SOLUTIONS. FOR LEADERSHIP.
LOOK TO NC STATE.

STUDENT-ATHLETE DEVELOPMENT

CHAMPIONS IN THE COMMUNITY

Giving back is a major point of emphasis for the NC State football staff, as evidenced by Tom O'Brien's vow to make the Wolfpack champions in the community. Under O'Brien, the squad has visited the Raleigh Rescue Mission, been involved with the Marine Corps' Toys for Tots campaign, built homes for Habitat for Humanity, taken several visits to Camp LeJeune to visit the "wounded warriors," helped run an annual foster care clinic and in 2009, a few players even spent their spring break helping rebuild hurricane-ravaged homes in Mississippi.

O'Brien is on the Board of Directors of the Marine Corps Toys for Tots Campaign and has brought his passion for that program to Wolfpack football. NC State has teamed with Coca-Cola and Harris Teeter to collect money and toys during football season. For every touchdown the Wolfpack scores, Coca-Cola has donated $500 to the tots.

IMPACK PROGRAM

ImPACK is a "Life Skills" program designed to support the total development of NC State student-athletes. The mission of ImPACK is to provide an unmatched comprehensive life skills program for student-athletes that encourages their growth in decision making, enhances their interpersonal relationships, and enables them to make meaningful contributions to their communities.

CAREER NETWORK FOR STUDENT-ATHLETES

The Career Network for NC State student-athletes is a partnership between the ImPACK program and a variety of businesses. These businesses provide summer employment opportunities, internships and postgraduate career options.

Graduating student-athletes are featured each year in the NC State Corporate Playbook, a publication that features photos and resumes of Wolfpack student-athletes and is sent to over 1,500 businesses, government agencies and corporations.

The Wolfpack football program and players receive national, regional and/or local media exposure on almost a daily basis. At NC State, that exposure is seen as both a privilege and a responsibility, as each interview gives the individual student-athlete a chance to represent his university and his team.

In order to help each student-athlete project the best possible image, annual media training is provided to the football team. Individual media training is also available to any player who is interested.

TELEVISION EXPOSURE

Nine of the Wolfpack's games were televised last season and two that weren't were carried by ESPN360. NC State games were broadcast by ESPN, ABC, espn2, ESPNU and Raycom Sports. Over the past 13 seasons, 130 NC State football games have been televised.

TOP MEDIA MARKET

NC State University is located in one of the top 30 media markets in the nation. Several regional newspapers have a beat writer assigned to cover Pack football, while television stations from five networks (ABC, CBS, FOX, NBC, WB) as well as a 24-hour news channel are located in the triangle.

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

CHAMPIONS IN THE COMMUNITY

Raleigh, the capital of North Carolina, is situated midway between the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Atlantic Ocean, so the beach and the mountains are never more than a two- to three-hour drive away. With a climate that's mild year round, it's easy to see why Raleigh and the surrounding region are consistently rated among the best places to live and work in the United States.

A COLLEGE TOWN
There are seven colleges and universities within Wake County's borders.

POPULATION

Raleigh boasts a population of over 401,000 residents. Over 900,000 people live in Wake County, while well over a million populate the area (Raleigh/Durham/Chapel Hill) that makes up the Triangle region.

DIVERSITY

One-third of Raleigh's population is made up of minorities. One-third of the population is also between the ages of 18-32.

SO MUCH TO DO

CHAMPIONS IN THE COMMUNITY

Wolfpack football is a year-round passion in Raleigh, but that doesn't mean that there aren't a variety of other events that cater to every taste.

There is no place in the country that gets more excited about college basketball than the Triangle. The atmosphere in the state-of-the-art RBC Center is electric when the Wolfpack men's basketball team faces an ACC rival, especially when it's Duke or North Carolina on the opposing bench.

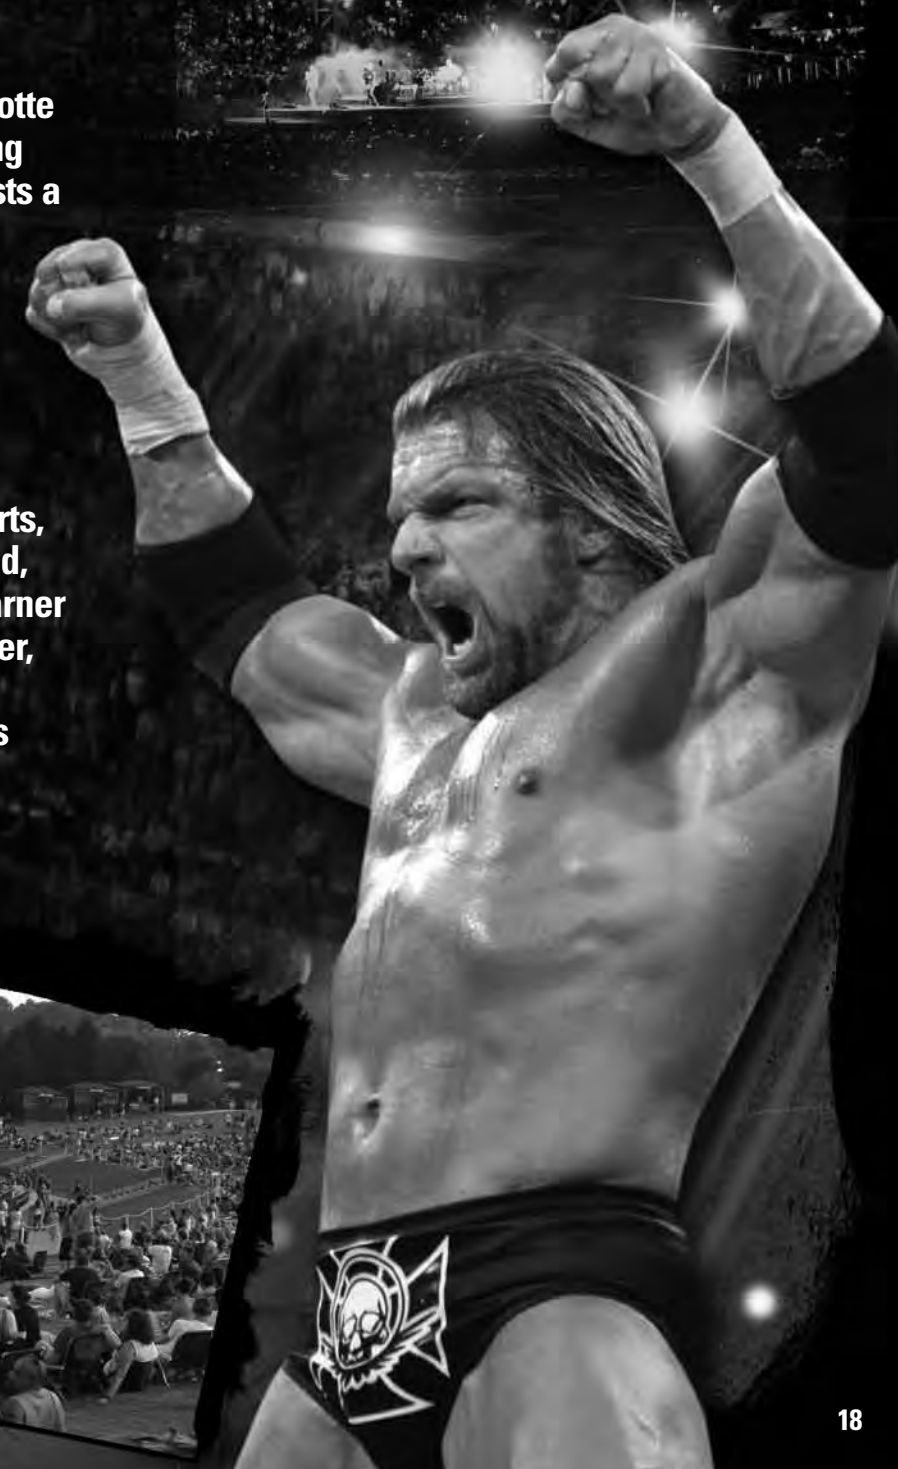

The NFL, NBA, and the NHL all have homes in North Carolina. The RBC Center is also home to the NHL's Carolina Hurricanes, while the Carolina Panthers and Charlotte Bobcats play their home games just a couple of hours down the road.

Future Major League Baseball stars make frequent stops in the area, as the Durham Bulls are a Triple-A affiliate of the Tampa Bay Rays and the Carolina Mudcats are the Double-A affiliate of the Cincinnati Reds.

NASCAR action can be found at the Charlotte Motor Speedway in Concord and wrestling fans pack the RBC Center each time it hosts a WWE "Smackdown."

The Wolfpack squad even boasts a number of fishing enthusiasts, and there are countless lakes close to campus for anglers to try their luck.

And for those who want a break from sports, there are a variety of other events to attend, from concerts at the RBC Center, Time Warner Cable Pavilion or Koka Booth Amphitheater, to Broadway Shows at Raleigh Memorial Auditorium or the Durham Performing Arts Center.

THE ROAD TO THE NFL

CHAMPIONS ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD

The Wolfpack coaching staff wants every NC State player to earn his degree so he will have all the tools he needs to follow his dream. For many student-athletes, that dream is to play in the National Football League. NC State boasts a rich tradition of sending players to the professional ranks, as do Tom O'Brien and his experienced coaching staff.

Both Wolfpack coordinators, Dana Bible on offense and Mike Archer on defense, have coached in the NFL, while secondary coach Mike Reed has coached in the NFL and in the European leagues. Two Wolfpack coaches played in the NFL, Reed and defensive line coach Keith Willis, a 12-year NFL veteran.

Scouts from numerous NFL teams attend every home game and are frequent visitors at Wolfpack practices.

ENTERING 2010 CAMP, 26 FORMER WOLFPACK PLAYERS ARE ON NFL ROSTERS

THE PACK IN THE FRONT OFFICE

NC State is well represented in the front offices of the NFL. Former Wolfpack offensive guard Steve Keim is Director of Player Personnel for the Arizona Cardinals after serving as a regional scout for that organization for seven years.

Former Pack linebacker Morocco Brown is the Director of Pro Personnel for the Washington Redskins, after holding the assistant director's position for the Chicago Bears. Kevin Turks is the assistant director of pro personnel for the Chicago Bears.

Other former Pack players are currently working as pro scouts, Alex Santos (Washington Redskins) and Darrell Moody (San Diego Chargers).

Former Wolfpack player Bobby Crumpler is the strength and conditioning coach for the Redskins.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING CHAMPIONS ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD

The North Carolina State Strength and Conditioning staff, under the direction of Todd Rice, uses a variety of protocols to assist the Wolfpack in its efforts to achieve full athletic potential. With a heavy emphasis on flexibility and joint integrity, the program concentrates on the fundamentals essential to improving strength, speed and agility.

The Pack has the advantage of training in one of the largest strength and conditioning facilities in the country devoted solely to football. The Wolfpack conditions in a 14,000+ square-foot facility that overlooks the playing field at Carter-Finley Stadium. The bright, open area spans the entire width of the Murphy Center, and includes over 15 tons of weights, plus other machines and equipment.

The facility also houses a 5,000-square-foot plyometric, core and flexibility training area that also contains an aerobic area for coaches and support staff.

Over 15 tons of weights • Dumbbells up to 160 pounds • Hammer Strength and UCS Equipment • Video and audio system with 24 speakers and amplifiers
 Cardio equipment including treadmills, stairmasters, recumbant and upright bikes and elliptical trainers • Floating concrete floor for sound absorption

CHAMPIONSHIP LEADERS

CHAMPIONS ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD

The Wolfpack coaching staff boasts an exciting combination of experienced, veteran coaches and young, dynamic leaders. NC State's coaches combine for 266 years of coaching experience ... more than two and a half centuries!

In addition to Head Coach Tom O'Brien, defensive coordinator Mike Archer has also been a head coach (LSU). Three Wolfpack assistants have coached in the NFL (Archer, Dana Bible and Mike Reed). The leaders of the Pack have also coached in other professional leagues and on the high school level.

THE BOWL TRADITION

CHAMPIONS ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD

NC State boasts a rich bowl tradition. The Pack has advanced to a bowl game in six of the last 10 seasons and has played in 24 bowl games overall.

The Wolfpack football staff hardly knows what it's like to spend the holidays at home. Head coach Tom O'Brien and his assistant coaches have combined to coach in 94 bowl games during their careers. He and the six assistants he brought from Boston College led the Eagles to seven consecutive bowl games, the longest active streak in the nation and the second-most in IA history for a coach at one school.

CHAMPIONSHIP FACILITIES

CHAMPIONS ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD

In its 44 years of existence, Carter-Finley Stadium has earned a reputation as one of the most exciting venues in college football, mainly due to the dedication of Wolfpack fans. In the past decade, the facility has been renovated to match the excellence of the people who fill it and has become known as one of the finest football venues in the nation for both its atmosphere and its amenities.

The Wolfpack squad practices just a stone's throw away at the Dail Practice Complex. This area covers seven acres and boasts three full fields, a training room, restrooms and a tower.

CHAMPIONSHIP FACILITIES

THE WENDELL H. MURPHY FOOTBALL CENTER

When it comes to football operations facilities, there is none in the country as fine as the Wendell H. Murphy Center. The 103,254-square-foot complex houses every aspect of Wolfpack football, from sports medicine, to equipment, to strength training, to academics. As functional as it is aesthetically pleasing, the Murphy Center is definitely the Wolfpack's den.

The Murphy Center (known as "The Murph" to the Wolfpack players) is the largest operations facility in the country devoted solely to football.

MAIN ENTRANCE

Former Wolfpack football player and master sculptor Dick Idol created the "Wolfpack Turf" monument, which rises from the plaza in front of the Murphy Center. The statue is made up of six wolves, each two-times life size, standing on a 21-foot stone mountain.

Each wolf on the sculpture has a name which represents one of the characteristics of a wolf and of a Wolfpack football player: Confidence, Passion, Spirit, Courage, Pride and Strength.

FIRST FLOOR

The heartbeat of the Murphy Center is on the bottom floor. The beautiful locker room stretches the length of the building on one side of the hall, boasting 114 custom wood lockers, bathrooms, showers, a stereo and TVs. The other side of the hall is home to the equipment room and the state-of-the-art sports medicine facility, which covers 6,000 square feet and includes an aquatics area with three pools.

CHAMPIONSHIP FACILITIES

HALL OF CHAMPIONS

Visitors to the Murphy Center can experience the rich heritage of Wolfpack Football in the Finley Hall of Champions. This multimedia complex highlights NC State's football tradition with photos, artifacts and interactive exhibits. Fans can watch video highlights in the Woolard Theater and younger Wolfpackers can have fun in the Junior Wolfpack Zone.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

From the lobby, double doors open into the massive strength training facility, which runs the entire length of the building and covers 15,000 square-feet.

THIRD FLOOR

The third floor of the Murphy Center houses a large dining room and a players' lounge that overlooks Wayne Day Family Field. The lounge contains couches, pool tables, ping-pong tables, wide-screen TVs and video games for the Wolfpack players to enjoy during breaks.

A large team meeting room and meeting rooms for each position are also on the third floor. Each room is equipped with the latest video playback equipment for reviewing film and breaking down an athlete's performance. That level also houses offices for the Wolfpack's academic advisors, as well as a large study room with computers in the Kirkland Academic Suite.

FOURTH FLOOR

On the fourth floor, the coaches' offices, a large staff conference room, offensive and defensive meeting rooms, a television studio and the video production offices can be found.

Only the finest personnel in the medical profession work with NC State student-athletes. Phil Hedrick, Head Football Athletic Trainer, is in his second year with the program and brings a wealth of experience in the sports medicine field. Hedrick has an outstanding staff of medical professionals to assist in maintaining the student-athletes' well-being. The staff includes a full-time assistant athletic trainer, a stable of medical doctors, three graduate assistant athletic trainers and 6-10 student aids. All of these individuals are responsible for the health and welfare of the football student-athletes throughout the year.

THE ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE

A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE ...
THEN, NOW AND ALWAYS.

The ACC has led the nation in the NCAA's graduation success (GSR) for five years in a row.

The ACC is the only conference in the country to have at least one top-10 NFL Draft selection each year since 2006.

34 first-round draft picks have come from ACC schools since 2006, second-most among all conferences.

179 ACC players have been chosen in the NFL Draft since 2006, ranking second among all conferences.

The ACC is one of just two conferences to have 30 or more players taken in the NFL Draft in each of the past six years, including 31 in 2010.

23 former ACC players were tabbed for the NFL Pro Bowl in 2010, leading all conferences for the second straight year.

17 former ACC players were on rosters for the 2010 Super Bowl, as well as 10 coaches with ties to the conference.

Three ACC teams finished the 2009 season in the top-15 of the BCS rankings.

Four ACC teams were ranked in the final 2009 Associated Press Poll.

41 ACC teams have gone bowling in the last five seasons, second-most among all conferences.

28 ACC players picked up All-America honors in 2009, including four first-team All-America selections and 15 freshman All-America honors.

THE WOLFPACK

NOTING THE PACK

CUTTING IT CLOSE

Although a 5-7 record in 2009 wasn't what the NC State coaching staff was hoping for, a closer look at the scores shows that the Wolfpack wasn't too far away from being 8-4. Three of the team's losses last season were by six points or less: a three-point loss at Florida State, a six-point loss at Wake Forest and a four-point loss to South Carolina to open the season.

In 2008, the Wolfpack posted a 6-7 mark, winning four straight games to close the regular season and earn a bowl bid. Four of the seven losses that season were by nine points or less: a seven-point loss to BC, a nine-point loss to Florida State, a three-point loss to Maryland and a six-point loss to Rutgers in the Papajohns.com Bowl.

In all, of NC State's 14 losses in the past two seasons, seven have been by nine points or less, five by six points or less and three by four points or less.

Russell Wilson was named to the All-ACC Academic squad for football and baseball in 2009-10

G-OWEN LONG

Owen Spencer just wasn't satisfied. Even though he set an ACC single-season record for yards per catch in 2008, averaging a whopping 22.3 yards on 31 grabs, he really thought he could do better. So in 2009, he did. Last season, he bettered that mark by over three yards, leading the nation with 25.5 yards per catch and in the process, breaking his own school and conference mark.

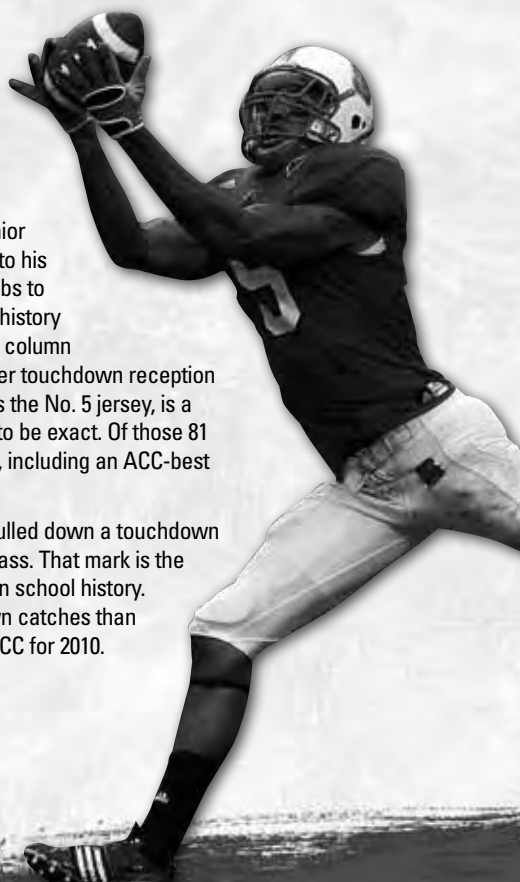

For his career, Spencer has averaged 23.3 yards per reception (1,529 yards on 66 grabs), and is on pace to set the ACC's career mark of 22.0 as well (currently held by Herman Moore of Virginia).

Spencer led the team with 16 plays of 20+ yards last season. He also led the team in 2008 with 13 plays that went over the 20-yard marks.

J-5 FOR SIX

With 81 career receptions, senior Jarvis Williams, known as J-5 to his teammates, still needs two grabs to break into the top 18 in school history in that category. Move over a column or two and check out the career touchdown reception chart and Williams, who wears the No. 5 jersey, is a little higher up the list: fourth to be exact. Of those 81 catches, 15 have been for TDs, including an ACC-best 11 scores in 2009.

The Orlando, Fla., native has pulled down a touchdown every 5.4 times he catches a pass. That mark is the best among the top receivers in school history. He has more career touchdown catches than any returning receiver in the ACC for 2010.

STATE WAITS FOR NATE

It's been a long time since No. 56 has run out of the tunnel at Carter-Finley Stadium and it would be a tough call to decide who is looking forward to him doing it again on September 4th more: Nate Irving himself or the Wolfpack fans.

Irving was a huge key to the NC State defense heading into 2009. In 2008 he was an honorable mention All-ACC performer, but would have battled for first-team honors if he hadn't been slowed by injuries. He tied for third on the team in tackles despite missing three complete games and most of two more, and he led the team in interceptions with four -- the most ever by a Wolfpack linebacker. He was looking forward to a huge campaign in 2009 and was on several preseason All-ACC squads.

However, early in the morning of June 28, 2009, his season came to a standstill. He decided to leave his home in Wallace, N.C., in the wee hours of the morning to make the hour and 15 minute drive back to Raleigh, where he would begin summer school classes the next day. Just 20 minutes from his destination, he fell asleep and ran off the road. The mammoth SUV he was driving flipped multiple times, hit several trees and when he came to he was in a hospital.

Irving sustained a multitude of injuries, including a collapsed lung, broken rib, separated shoulder and a compound fracture in his leg. He spent three days in the hospital and months rehabbing.

Although he says that the most painful part of the accident was missing football, Irving knows he is blessed to be alive. He lost almost 30 pounds during the ordeal but has gained most of that back and is counting down the days until he makes that first tackle.

PACK THINKS PINK

One of the newer traditions surrounding Wolfpack football is the Kay Yow Spring Football Game. Although the Wolfpack has played a spring game every year for decades, Tom O'Brien decided in 2009 to permanently name the event in honor of Naismith Hall of Fame women's basketball coach Kay Yow, who died in January of that year after a valiant battle with breast cancer.

All proceeds from the game each year will go to the Kay Yow/WBCA Cancer Fund and the Kay Yow scholarship endowment. In the past two seasons combined, almost 50,000 fans attended the event.

The coaching staff honors the cause by wearing pink shirts and hats and the players were taped with pink tape - the signature color of the fight against breast cancer.

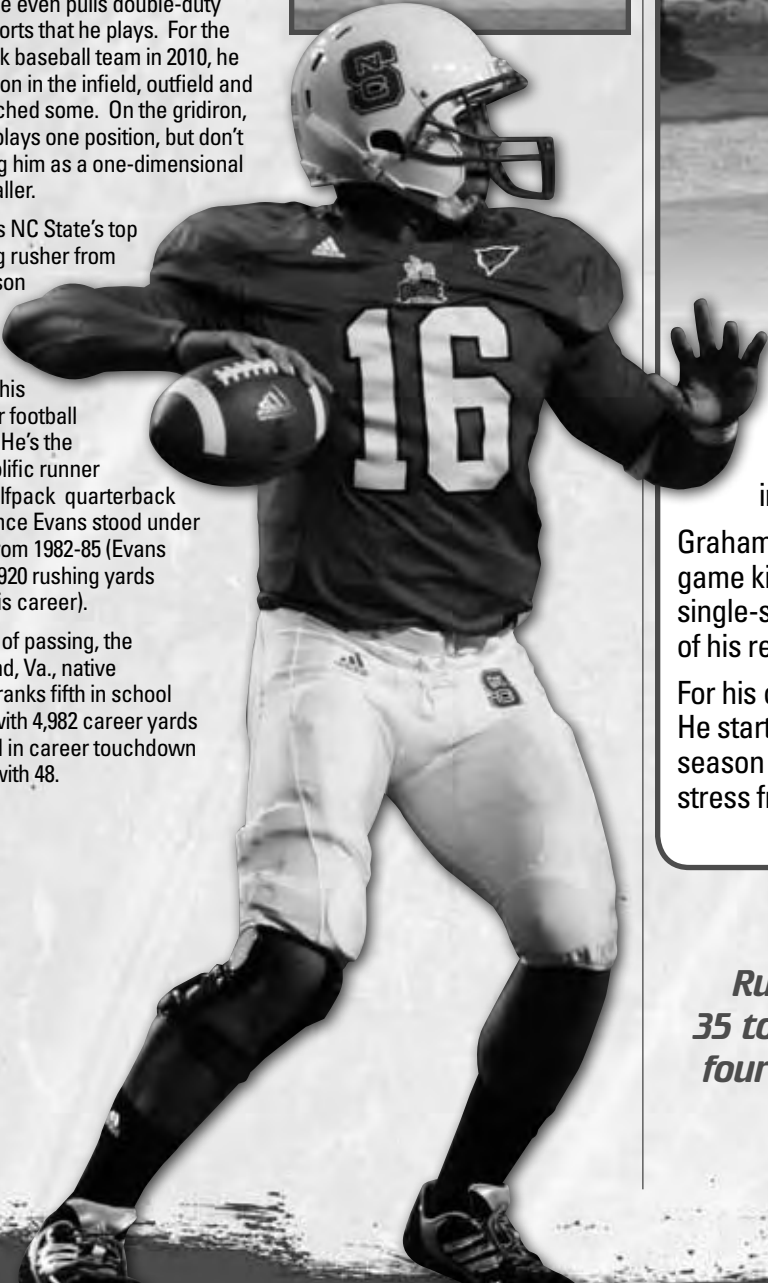

WILSON PULLS DOUBLE-DUTY

While many of the Wolfpack players were involved in seven-on-seven drills this summer, one key element of the team was 2,000 miles away. Russell Wilson, the Pack's starting quarterback each of the past two seasons and a utility player on the Wolfpack baseball squad in 2010, was drafted in the fourth-round of the Major League Baseball draft in June by the Colorado Rockies. He spent the summer playing in that franchise's affiliate in Pasco, Washington: the Tri-City Dust Devils. Wilson, who hit his first professional home run on July 11, will play for that squad through July, then head back to Raleigh in time for the opening of preseason camp on August 3.

Wilson's not only multi-dimensional when it comes to playing two sports, he even pulls double-duty in the sports that he plays. For the Wolfpack baseball team in 2010, he saw action in the infield, outfield and even pitched some. On the gridiron, he only plays one position, but don't try to peg him as a one-dimensional signal caller.

Wilson is NC State's top returning rusher from last season and has rushed for 648 yards in his two-year football career. He's the most prolific runner for a Wolfpack quarterback since Vince Evans stood under center from 1982-85 (Evans tallied 1,920 rushing yards during his career).

In terms of passing, the Richmond, Va., native already ranks fifth in school history with 4,982 career yards and third in career touchdown throws with 48.

WHAM, BAM, THANK YOU GRAHAM

Despite missing five games due to an injury last season, return man extraordinaire T.J. Graham ranks fourth in school history in career kickoff return yardage and he is only a junior. His 1,602 yards is the 20th-best mark in ACC history.

Graham already holds the school records for single-game kickoff return yards (202 versus Duke in 2009) and single-season kickoff return yards (1,028 in 2008). Two of his returns have been for touchdowns.

For his career, Graham posts 2,254 all-purpose yards. He started three of the seven games he played in last season as a receiver, before his season ended due to a stress fracture in his leg.

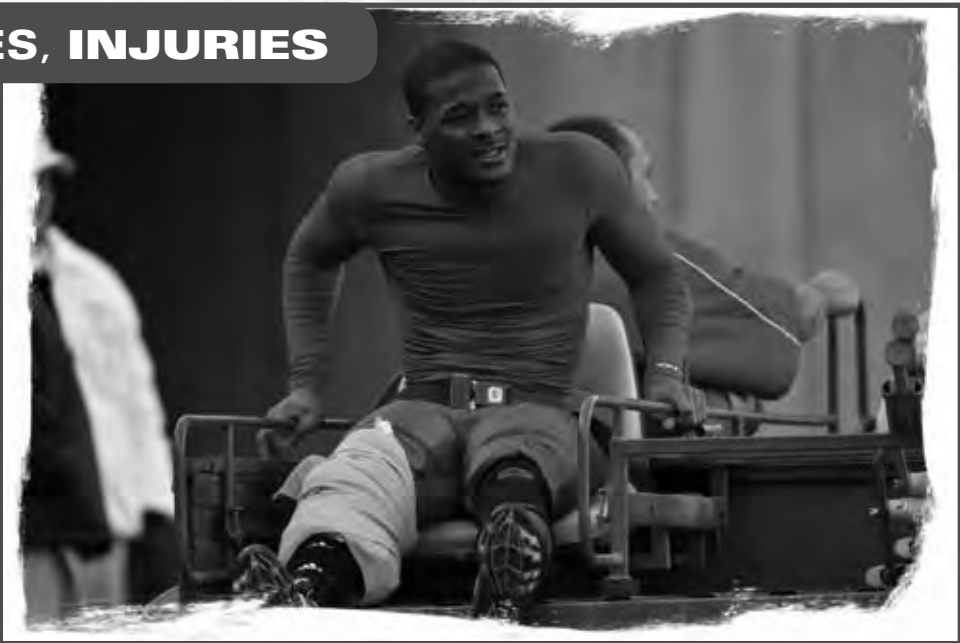

Russell Wilson was responsible for 35 touchdowns last season (31 passing, four rushing), the second-highest total in NC State history.

INJURIES, INJURIES, INJURIES

If one word came to Tom O'Brien's mind when recalling his first three seasons at NC State, it might be INJURIES. The last three Wolfpack squads have been decimated by injuries, a trend that the staff certainly hopes will change direction in 2010.

In the last three seasons combined, players who were starters at one point in their careers missed an overwhelming total of 180 total games. That's an average of 60 games missed per season.

On top of the sheer numbers of players who have been lost due to injury, the losses have been to key players as well. In 2007, starting tight end Anthony Hill (now with the Houston Texans) and starting halfback Toney Baker (now with the Denver Broncos) both missed the entire seasons with injuries. In 2008, Baker missed a second season, while the team's top wide receiver, Donald Bovens, also sat out with an injury. In 2009, the team's top defender, Nate Irving, could not play after injuries suffered in a car accident.

A SECOND CHANCE

This time last year, senior defensive end David Akinniyi was pretty sure that as a senior, he would be a starter. He just had no idea that it would be at NC State.

Akinniyi spent the first three years of his career at Northeastern, where he was a two-time member of the Colonial Athletic Association's All-Academic team and tallied 24 tackles for loss and 12 sacks. However, in late November, he and his teammates were informed that the school was dropping its football program, leaving Akinniyi with a year of eligibility and no place to play.

Fortunately for Akinniyi and NC State, he has found a home in Raleigh, even moving into the starter's slot at defensive end during spring drills.

Akinniyi's parents, Akin and Gloria, who now live in Carrollton, Texas, came to the U.S. from Nigeria in 1982. His older brother, Akin, played line-backer at Arizona, his sister Deborah ran track at Stanford and is now in medical school and another sister, Dorcas, is a heptathlete at Wisconsin.

NC State lost 12 starters from last year's squad, more than any other ACC team.

CATCHES THAT COUNT

Jarvis Williams isn't the only current Wolfpack receiver who has made his catches count (for six points, that is). Williams has averaged a touchdown every 5.4 catches for his career, the best mark in school history among the Wolfpack's all-time receiving leaders.

A couple of his teammates aren't far behind. All-ACC tight end George Bryan has been almost as prolific at scoring touchdowns, as he has stepped into the end zone every 5.8 times he makes a catch. In third place is Owen Spencer, who has reached pay dirt every 6.0 times he makes a grab.

Here's a look at the touchdown frequency of the top receivers in school history:

A black and white photograph capturing a moment of intense celebration on a football field. Several coaches, dressed in light-colored jackets and caps, are shown in various states of excitement. One coach in the center foreground is holding a clipboard high above his head with his right hand, while his mouth is open in a shout. To his right, another coach is pointing forward with his right hand, also shouting. In the background, other coaches and players are visible, some with their arms raised. The scene is filled with energy and movement. The word "COACHES" is overlaid in a large, white, stylized serif font across the lower right portion of the image. A small logo, featuring the letters "CS" inside a shield-like shape, is positioned to the left of the first letter of "COACHES".

TOM O'BRIEN

Integrity. Honesty. Diligence.

In 13 years as a head coach and more than three decades in the coaching profession, Tom O'Brien has quietly become known as a paragon of all three of those qualities. And because he unwaveringly and unapologetically expects nothing less from those around him, he's added another characteristic to his reputation: success.

O'Brien is definitely a man of few words. Instead, he has let his actions speak for him throughout his life and career. While many coaches use hyperbole and flamboyance to attract top recruits, he remains calm and reticent - a man who might say little, but whose words have import. His players would probably attest to the fact that a word from O'Brien, or maybe even a look, has more of an impact than a lecture from someone else.

While others may feel that in order to be successful on the field, they need to cut corners in the classroom, O'Brien has maintained his high standards by only recruiting players with the potential to be successful academically. He has made academics the first of three prongs in his goal for his program at NC State: To be champions in the classroom, in the community and on the football field. And while many coaches think of the community only as the fans that attend their games and donate money to their programs, O'Brien and his teams have reached out to people far outside the football and athletic world.

But for all of his high ideals and standards, Tom O'Brien is not a man who seeks the spotlight or needs the validation of others in the form of awards or honors (although he's had plenty of those during his career). Simply put, he is a man who is comfortable in his own skin.

Personally, O'Brien would probably want to be known first as a family man. His wife and three children are his greatest passion and despite the hectic nature of his profession, he always takes time to spend with them. He is also passionate about the Marines and maintains close relationships with his former teammates from his days at the Naval Academy. And finally, he has a true passion to make the young men under his guidance into better people, not just better football players.

Wolfpack linebacker Nate Irving may have described his coach best: "Coach O'Brien does a great job teaching us that being a championship football team requires hard work, but it can also be fun. He's serious when he needs to be, but he likes to have fun and smile. You just have to know when to be serious and when to have fun. A lot of people don't see that side of him, but I don't think he cares. He just cares what his family thinks about him - his family at home and his family that is our team. Most people only see the mean face on the field or the red face at the interviews. They don't see the funny side with him smiling and laughing. THAT's the real Coach O'Brien."

Professionally, O'Brien has implemented a system for building a championship program based on his ideals and beliefs and is confident that the system will succeed with time and hard work. When the going gets tough, he just keeps following the plan, confident that by doing the right things, success will come in the end.

At no time was that confidence more obvious than during the 2008 campaign, O'Brien's second at NC State. His team was decimated by injuries early in the season and entered the month of November with a 2-6 record. But there was no sense of panic around the Wolfpack locker room - instead the coaching staff stood true to its plan and things began to click. The team finished the season with four straight wins and an invitation to a postseason bowl.

That steadfastness in the face of trouble is a testament to O'Brien's proud military background. After his 1971 graduation from the Naval Academy, he served nine years in the Marines, beginning his football coaching career as an assistant for Navy's plebe (freshman) team, then serving at the Quantico Marine Base in Quantico, Va., and tours of duty in California and Japan. He eventually reached the rank of major in the Marine Corps Reserve.

In 1975, O'Brien returned to Navy as a Marine officer assigned to then-Navy head coach George Welsh's staff. In 1980, he resigned his commission and was hired by Welsh as a full-time assistant coach. But O'Brien didn't accept before he examined all of his available options. To this day, he credits Welsh with allowing him to interview with several major corporations before accepting the coaching position. After examining all of his options, he concluded that coaching was where he wanted to be. Thirty-five years later, he has no regrets.

O'Brien spent seven years under Welsh at the Naval Academy, coaching the team's tackles and tight ends and serving as recruiting coordinator. He was responsible for recruiting All-America and Hall of Fame running back Napoleon McCallum to the Naval Academy.

In 1982, O'Brien followed Welsh to Virginia, where they turned the Cavaliers into a

DEVELOPING LEADERS

During his 13 years as a head coach, Tom O'Brien has mentored five assistant coaches who have gone on to be Division I head coaches.

nationally prominent and successful football power. In O'Brien's 15 years there, Virginia had winning seasons 12 times, won four bowl games and was ACC co-champion. O'Brien was the Cavs' offensive coordinator in his final six seasons. During his tenure, Virginia consistently ranked among the top offensive teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference. In 1996, the Cavaliers scored more than 320 points for an ACC-record eighth consecutive year.

O'Brien got his first opportunity to lead a major college program in December, 1996, when he took over at Boston College. There, he turned around a program that had been wracked with a gambling scandal and instability. After leading the Eagles to back-to-back 4-7 seasons in 1997 and 1998, O'Brien led BC to an 8-4 record in 1999 and the third-best turnaround in the NCAA 1-A ranks. He then guided the Eagles to eight consecutive winning seasons and an NCAA-best eight consecutive bowl victories. He posted nine-win seasons in four of his final five years at Chestnut Hill, posting a 75-45 record and leaving the school with more wins than any coach in Boston College history. Heading into the Eagles' 2006 bowl game, BC ranked as the 18th winningest program of the 21st century (from 2000-06).

Just as impressively, O'Brien's teams were successful in the classroom. The American Football Coaches' Association gave him its 2004 Academic Achievement Award for posting a 100 percent graduation rate. He received Honorable Mention status seven additional times during his tenure at Boston College. BC was ranked No. 1 in the country by USA Today when that publication re-ordered its 2005 regular-season poll and the final 2005 football Top 25 by APR (Academic Progress Rate) score to measure a combination of athletic and academic success. At the time O'Brien left, BC boasted the highest success rate for football among any ranked team.

Following the 2006 regular season, the job at NC State opened up and O'Brien jumped at the chance to return south to a large public institution where football is a centerpiece for students, alumni and fans. The recent upgrades to Carter-Finley Stadium and the commitment to building a strong football program cemented O'Brien's decision.

He brought to NC State his goal of building a championship program - in the classroom, in the community and on the football field. Before the ink was barely dry on his contract, the student-athletes from his team were being held to even higher academic standards, and the team was involved with many community service projects in his first semester on the job.

That championship attitude began to be exhibited midway through O'Brien's first season at NC State. After opening the season 1-5, his team pulled together and won four straight games, including a win over 18th-ranked Virginia and tough road wins at East Carolina and Miami. Despite the slow start, his first Wolfpack squad went into the season finale with a bowl bid on the line.

The aforementioned 2008 season will go down as one of the most rewarding of O'Brien's career, as his team became the first in ACC history to start the season 0-4 in league play and finish 4-0. The bid to the Papajohns.com Bowl marked the ninth bowl invitation in the past 10 years for O'Brien. His freshman quarterback, Russell Wilson, became the first rookie in the history of the Atlantic Coast Conference to be named first-team all-conference at his position and it marked the sixth time in his 19 years in the league that a quarterback under O'Brien's tutelage was named the All-ACC signal caller.

The 2009 campaign was another marked by injuries for O'Brien's Wolfpack. Victories over eventual Big East Champion Pitt and a third-straight win over rival North Carolina highlighted the season.

O'Brien and his staff have also relentlessly pushed the squad to become champions in the classroom. In the last five graduation ceremonies, 41 members of the squad have earned their degrees, and the cumulative GPA of the football team has steadily risen in just his first three years with the program.

NC State's football squad has also increased its community involvement under O'Brien. The squad served a meal at the Raleigh Rescue Mission during his first year with the program and has become increasingly involved with the Marine Corps' Toys for Tots campaign. The team has taken several visits to Camp LeJeune to visit the Wounded Warriors and in March of 2009, a few players and staff members spent their spring break helping rebuild hurricane-ravaged homes in Mississippi.

O'Brien has been a visible and popular figure at Wolfpack athletic events and Wolfpack Club speaking engagements since his arrival in Raleigh. He has also focused on the Wolfpack's rich football history as he attempts to get former players involved with the program. For the last three springs, he has welcomed back more than 300 former Wolfpack football players for a two-day reunion around NC State's spring football game. An all-star collection of players - including former Pittsburgh Steelers head coach Bill Cowher, All-Pro wide receiver Torry Holt and 2006 No. 1 draft pick Mario Williams - have been on hand, with representatives from more than six decades.

O'Brien received a community-minded Jesuit education at St. Xavier High School in Cincinnati, Ohio, that helped him earn his appointment to the Naval Academy and has continued to shape the type of man he has become. At Annapolis, where he was a three-year starter at defensive end, he learned to combine his hard work with discipline and leadership skills, traits that prepared him to become a Marine officer when his football career ended.

O'Brien has spent his career influencing his peers and his players. He has been recognized for his valuable contributions to the communities where he has served. He is on the board of directors for the Marine Corps' Toys for Tots Foundation and has spearheaded a campaign at NC State that raised $40,000 for the program from Wolfpack fans last season, as well as 3,000 toys. He also received the John F. Kennedy National Award, given to "an outstanding American of Irish descent for distinguished service to God and country" in 2005.

O'Brien is married to the former Jennifer Byrd of San Diego, who is a member of the board of directors for Rostro de Cristo (Face of Christ), a program whose mission is to provide spiritual and educational opportunities for young people from the United States to live out the Gospel of Jesus Christ together with the people of Ecuador. They are the parents of three children: Colleen Frances, a 2002 Boston College graduate who is an associate producer at ESPN; Daniel Patrick, a 2005 BC graduate who is on the Alabama football staff; and Bridget Jean, also a 2005 BC graduate who is now the Museum Coordinator for the Historic Charleston Foundation.

HISTORY

WOLFPACK TIMELINE

MARCH 12, 1892

The North Carolina A&M football team squares off against a team from the Raleigh Male Academy at Raleigh's Athletic Park (now Pullen Park). The Aggies record a 12-6 victory in a game that includes two 45-minute halves and has plowed lines to serve as the boundaries of the field. The A&M team wears pink and blue uniforms and nearly 200 people attend the game.

1893

The A&M "Farmers" play their first college game against Tennessee in Raleigh, winning 12-6. The school's three literary societies selected the school colors: pink and blue.

1895

North Carolina A&M, under the direction of Coach Bart Gatling, replaced pink and blue uniforms with brown and white ones, when it played at the Cotton States and International Exposition in Atlanta.

The team went to Atlanta without an opponent, but hastily arranged a contest with a more experienced squad from the Virginia Military Institute. The game was called for 2:30 Friday afternoon on the Atlanta athletic fields, adjacent to the fairgrounds. Though overmatched, the Farmers proudly represented Raleigh and North Carolina, wearing their new brown-and-white school colors.

The 1895 team donned new school colors: brown and white!

1886

The team dons red and white uniforms for the first time.

NOVEMBER 8, 1902

The Farmers battle to a 0-0 tie against the well-established powerhouse from North Carolina in a game at the State Fair Grounds. Following the contest, the entire student body at Trinity College (now Duke University) sends the Farmers a congratulatory telegram.

The A&M students rushed from the game and burned down the school's original outhouse - the first big celebration in school history. "There were many times afterwards that we regretted doing that," said one early historian.

A&M withdraws from the N.C. Athletic Association and joins the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

1904

William S. Kienholtz hired as A&M's first full-time coach.

OCTOBER 1, 1906

The Farmers use a new "trick play" in a 39-0 victory over Randolph-Macon at the Fair Grounds: the forward pass.

SEPTEMBER 1907

The Farmers play their first game at the New Athletic Park on the school campus versus Randolph Macon. The site later becomes known as Riddick Field and then Riddick Stadium. The Red Terrors also brought home NC State's first football title that year, winning the South Atlantic Championship with a 6-0-1 record.

Before 1907, games were played "on whatever part of the college ground happened to be uncultivated and without trees."

In 1907, the "Farmers" were playing at the New Athletic Park, which was later named Riddick Field (1914 team shown here).

1909

Season tickets are sold for the first time. The price for five games? $2.00!

1910

The Farmers post a 4-0-2 record and win the South Atlantic Championship by winning the "biggest game ever played in the South" - a Thanksgiving weekend matchup versus Virginia Tech in Norfolk.

The season is the first that the forward pass is used. Tal Stafford completes the first pass, throws the first touchdown pass and intercepts the first pass in school history.

NOVEMBER 4, 1911

A scoreboard is installed at the A&M Athletic Field. The scoreboard informs the crowd which team has possession, the down and distance and the score.

1912

First enclosed stadium is built on campus and named after Dr. W.C. Riddick.

1913

The Farmers posts a 6-1 record and win another South Atlantic Championship.

1918

The United States' entrance into World War I and a dangerous flu epidemic on campus forces State College, as A&M is now known, into reducing its schedule to four games.

All extra-curricular activities, including football games and practice, throughout the month of October and the first week of November are cancelled as the flu kills 13 students and two nurses in the college infirmary. (One of the nurses was the daughter of school president W.C. Riddick, for whom Riddick Stadium was named.) In all, some 450 students, faculty and staff are infected by the outbreak. In addition, more than 30 students who are affected by the flu bug are shipped out to Army camps across the country as officers, including seven regulars from the '17 state football champions.

After taking off all of October and the first weekend of November, first-year coach Tal Stafford's team receives permission to resume practice a week before the team is scheduled to face national power Georgia Tech in Atlanta. Georgia Tech defeats the war-depleted team 128-0 in Atlanta.

State produces its first All-American, as tackle John Ripple makes the Walter Camp second-team.

OCTOBER 23, 1919

State and Carolina meet for the first time since 1905 as part of the North Carolina State Fair festivities. State players wear uniform numbers for the first time and the first game program is printed.

1921

State joins the Southern Conference and begins to wear red sweaters instead of white sweaters. Local newspapers begin referring to the squad as the Wolfpack for the first time.

1927

State wins its first official conference title (Southern Conference) with a 9-1 record.

1928

O. Max Gardner, captain of NC State's 1907 SIAA Championship team, is elected governor of North Carolina. Gardner also attended law school at UNC, where he played football and was elected team captain, making him the only person in the history of the state to captain both schools.

SEPTEMBER 1930

NC State opens the 1930 season by playing its first night game. Under the newly installed lights of Riddick Stadium, the Pack defeats High Point, 37-0.

1937

NC State's new coach, Doc Newton, believes that the offensive huddle slows play too much, so he develops "The Huddle without a Huddle," using an instrument that the Associated Press describes as "a metal gadget the size of a pocket watch and somewhat similar to a baseball umpire's [ball-strike] indicator." Before each play, the tailback sets two numbers on the indicator - one for the play called and one for the snap count. The indicator is passed on to each of the players at his assigned position, and then the tailback deposits the gadget into a special pocket in his uniform pants. Needless to say, the practice lasts just one season and Newton begrudgingly lets his team huddle before each play.

Ty Coon and Artie Rooney starred for the Pack in the late 1930s.

With every man over 18 who is fit for service inducted into the military, Coach Doc Newton doesn't have much to work with. To make matters worse, State hosts Army officer trainees and the Army won't allow its cadets to compete in intercollegiate athletics. North Carolina and Duke both host Navy programs, which allow its participants to play on varsity teams. The day before the Carolina game, 24 of Carolina's 90 players are placed on furlough by the Navy and the day before the Duke game, 23 members of that squad are transferred by the Navy. Nevertheless, State drops both contests.

1944

State hires Beattie Feathers as head coach. Feathers starred as a player at Tennessee and was the first running back in NFL history to rush for 1,000 yards in a single season. He gained 1,004 yards for the Chicago Bears in 1934.

1952

The Southern Conference bans schools from playing in bowl games and limits squads to just 40 players for conference games.

NOVEMBER 23, 1957

Dick Christy scores all 29 of NC State's points in a 29-26 victory at South Carolina that gives the Pack its first ACC championship. Although he has never attempted a field goal in a game, Christy boots a 47-yarder to give the Pack the win. The score had been 26-26 with State driving, but the Gamecocks seemed to seal State's fate by intercepting a pass. Fans spill out of the stands to celebrate, but a defensive pass interference call gives the Wolfpack one more play.

Basketball probation keeps the Pack from accepting an Orange Bowl bid as conference champions.

NC State won its first ACC title in 1957, thanks to Dick Christy.

1959

Earle Edwards and his staff decide to switch their recruiting emphasis from Pennsylvania to North Carolina. A young man named Roman Gabriel from Wilmington is the first big in-state recruit.

NOVEMBER 28, 1961

Gabriel completes 17-22 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns in a 33-14 win over South Carolina, setting the ACC record for career completions.

Roman Gabriel helped put NC State football on the map in the early 1960s.

NOVEMBER 22, 1963

NC State clinches a share of the Atlantic Coast Conference football championship with a win over Wake Forest in Riddick Stadium. However, the celebration is overshadowed by the assassination of President John F. Kennedy that day in Dallas, Texas. The game had been moved to Friday night and news of the assassination came just hours before kickoff.

NOVEMBER 13, 1965

NC State plays its last game in Riddick Stadium, defeating Florida State, 3-0.

OCTOBER 8, 1966

APRIL 18, 2009

A school-record 21,000+ people come out to support the Pack at the annual spring game, which has been renamed the Kay Yow Spring Game in honor of the former NC State women's basketball coach.

WHY THE WOLFPACK?

Prior to 1921, the athletic teams at the North Carolina College of Agricultural and Mechanical, which would become NC State, were referred to the "Farmers," the "Aggies," the "Tech," and the "Red Terrors."

The Wolfpack was first mentioned in association with NC State athletics in 1921, when an anonymous letter-writer to the school newspaper mentioned that some of the school's football players were as unruly as a pack of wolves. The name stuck for football although until 1946, all other athletics teams were called the "Red Terrors."

At first, football cheerleaders used a live Minnesota timber wolf named "State" as the team mascot, but he made just one appearance at Riddick Stadium. According to UPI, the wolf had "to be dragged across the field, a sniping and snarling bundle of fur." "State" was eventually sold to a traveling animal show.

In July, 1946, Chancellor J.W. Harrelson asked students to consider a new nickname for its athletics team, noting that German U-boats were called "Wolfpacks" and the name had developed some seriously negative connotations during World War II.

But the contest to find a new nickname drew some rather uninspiring entries and in the end, there were more letters in support of retaining the Wolfpack nickname than anything else.

COMING HOME

Since Tom O'Brien was named head coach in December of 2006, he began inviting all former players back each spring for a reunion. Hundreds of players from every decade since the 1940s have returned, bringing their families to the Kay Yow Spring Game and to the players' reunion the night before.

SIGN OF THE WOLF

It's easy to do: just touch your middle finger and your ring finger to your thumb to make the nose and hold your pinkie and your forefinger in the air to make the ears. You've made a wolf!

GOVERNOR GARDNER

NC State football players have gone on to many different careers and pursuits after their playing days ended, but only one has been elected governor. O. Max Gardner, who lettered for the Pack from 1902-05, was elected governor of North Carolina in 1929.

FLAG BEARERS

Another tradition that Tom O'Brien has begun at NC State is that of bringing the American and state of North Carolina flags onto the field when the team enters prior to kickoff. He wanted the Wolfpack program to not only honor our nation and state, but also to give recognition to some special players who work hard behind the scenes. Each week, two special players are given the honor of carrying the flags of the United States and the state of North Carolina. The offensive and defensive scout team players for the week, chosen by the coaching staff, lead the team onto the field.

CARTER-FINLEY STADIUM THROUGH THE YEARS

WALK OF CHAMPIONS

It's not the oldest Wolfpack tradition, but it has become one of the fans' and players' favorite parts of Wolfpack football. A couple of hours before kickoff, fans begin lining the walkways in front of the Murphy Football Center, forming a path for the team to walk through.

The band and cheerleaders are there, but the majority of the excitement comes from the multitude of Wolfpack fans who line the narrow path, cram between trees and jam the plaza in front of the building to cheer on the Pack before they get dressed for the game.

This year, the path of the Walk of Champions will change to give more fans a chance to get close to the players.

HALL OF FAMERS

The honor of being elected to the College Football Hall of Fame is the highest one accorded in the collegiate game and the Wolfpack has four former players and a former coach in that elite group.

The players include consensus All-American and Outland Trophy winner Jim Ritcher, Jack McDowall, who played for the Pack from 1925-27, and former Wolfpack quarterback Roman Gabriel and most recently, former defensive end Dennis Byrd, who will be inducted in December of 2010.

Lou Holtz, who coached the Wolfpack from 1972-75, was elected to the Hall of Fame in April of 2008.

Former Wolfpack punter Jim Donnan was inducted into the Hall of Fame as a coach.

18 ROMAN GABRIEL (QB)
At NC State: A two-time All-American, Roman Gabriel starred at quarterback for NC State in the early 1960's and finished his career holding virtually every Wolfpack passing record. An academic All-American, Gabriel saw his jersey retired and presented to him by Governor Terry Sanford on Jan. 20, 1962 at half-time of an NC State-Maryland basketball game in Reynolds Coliseum. A first-round draft pick by the Los Angeles Rams, he went on to a distinguished professional career.
In the Professional Ranks: Gabriel went on to play 15 seasons in the NFL, splitting time with the Los Angeles Rams (1962-72) and the Philadelphia Eagles (1973-77). He was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player in 1969 and earned Pro Bowl spots in 1967, 1968, 1969 and 1970. He was the MVP of the 1970 Pro Bowl. He ranked as the Rams' all-time passing leader with 22,223 yards and 154 touchdowns (1,705 com./3,313 att.) and threw for 7,221 yards and 45 touchdowns (661 com./1,185 att.) with the Eagles. In 1973, he led the NFL with 3,219 yards and 23 touchdown passes. He still holds the Rams' career records for: touchdown passes (154), passing yards (22,223), passes attempted (3,313), and passes completed (1,705). Was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1989.

THE MASKED MAN

Monte Kiffin, who served as the head coach of the Wolfpack from 1980-82, was one of the most colorful men ever to stand on the NC State sideline. Although he was serious about football, he also liked to have a little fun. During his tenure, he made appearances dressed as Santa Claus and even "boxed" heavyweight champion Joe Frazier at a Reynolds Coliseum Pep Rally in 1978.

His most memorable appearance, however, was the time he showed up at practice astride a white horse.

WHITE SHOES

Before the 1967 season opener with North Carolina, a group of Wolfpack defenders, came up with a unique fashion statement that would bond their unit together: they took their black cleats and polished them white. After a 13-7 victory over the Tar Heels, the polishing quickly became a Friday night tradition.

The Pack defense allowed just 94 points in 11 games that season, but the luck that may or may not have had anything to do with shoe color almost came to an end when the squad traveled to the Astrodome to play second-ranked Houston. Because the game would be played on artificial grass, the Pack had to borrow soccer shoes from the Houston Athletic Department.

The defensive players pondered the ethical implications of changing the color of the borrowed footwear, but finally decided that the white shoes were a necessity. The charm worked, as the Pack defense held the nation's top-ranked offense scoreless in three quarters, recovered three fumbles, intercepted two passes, blocked an extra point and a field goal attempt in an NC State upset.

"THE...(PINK AND BLUE...BROWN AND WHITE)...RED AND WHITE FROM STATE..."

When NC State was founded in 1887, it was called the North Carolina College of Agricultural and Mechanical Arts (A&M). When A&M fielded its first football team in 1892, the squad took the field in pink and blue uniforms. In 1895, after three years wearing the not-quite-intimidating color scheme, the squad voted to wear brown and white. That less-than-colorful design lasted just a year before the student body decided on red and white for the school colors.

RIDDICK STADIUM

When football began at NC State in 1892, the team practiced on whatever parts of the campus were uncultivated and without trees. Some of the earliest playing fields the Pack used were at Pullen Park, the State Fairgrounds and the area where Thompson Theater now stands.

In 1905, the school trustees approved using a portion of the campus known as the Crawford Farm as a permanent stadium site. In 1907, the new stadium was ready for play. In 1912, the facility was officially named after W.C. Riddick, who was considered the "Father of Athletics" at North Carolina State College of Agricultural and Mechanical Arts.

Riddick Stadium was eventually enlarged to accommodate crowds of 20,000 and served as the home of the Wolfpack through the 1965 season. The old stadium field is now a parking lot, with one side of the stands still standing until a couple of years ago.

51 JIM RITCHER (OL)
At NC State: Jim Ritcher is one of three Atlantic Coast Conference players to win the Outland Trophy, awarded annually to the nation's premier lineman. A two-time consensus All-American, Ritcher won the Outland Trophy as a Wolfpack senior in 1979, when he literally cleared the way for NC State to earn the ACC Championship. Still an active member of the Wolfpack family, Ritcher, whose son John is a red-shirt freshman for the 2002 squad, thrived in the NFL for 16 years, playing in four Super Bowls with the Buffalo Bills. Ritcher's No. 51 was retired on Feb. 8, 1987. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1998.

In the Professional Ranks: A first-round draft choice in 1980, Ritcher went on to play 16 seasons in the NFL, splitting time with the Buffalo Bills (1980-93) and the Atlanta Falcons (1994-95). An All-Pro choice in 1986, 1988, and 1990, Ritcher played in the 1992 and 1993 Pro Bowls. He also played in four Super Bowls with Buffalo and played in more games than any other Buffalo Bill (225). He was inducted into the Buffalo Hall of Fame in 2005 and was the recipient of the Gerald R. Ford Legends Award in 2009.

40 DICK CHRISTY (HB)
At NC State: Scoring all 29 of NC State's points, Dick Christy earned the Wolfpack its first Atlantic Coast Conference Championship in a 29-26 win in the Pack's season-fine at South Carolina on Nov. 23, 1957. Christy earned first team All-America recognition from the Associated Press and United Press International for his efforts that season. He ended his career in '57, holding 14 NC State records and four ACC records. Nearly 40 years later, Christy's jersey was retired on Nov. 8, 1997 in a game against Maryland.

In the Professional Ranks: Christy played five seasons in the NFL, splitting time with the Pittsburgh Steelers (1958), Boston Patriots (1960) and the New York Titans (1961-63). He was selected to play in the 1962 AFL All-Star game and led the AFL and NFL in punt returns in 1961 and 1962 with 21.3 and 16.7 yards per return, respectively. In 1962, he was named his team's MVP, when he led the squad in rushing, punt returns and kickoff returns.

23 TED BROWN (RB)
At NC State: Ted Brown is inarguably the greatest running back to play for NC State, if not in the entire Atlantic Coast Conference. A native of High Point, N.C., Brown rushed for a school and ACC record 4,602 yards from 1975-78. He scored 51 touchdowns during his career, which still stands as the top mark in ACC history. His jersey was retired during pregame ceremonies prior to his final home game on Nov. 18, 1978 against Duke. He was a first-round draft pick of the Minnesota Vikings where he enjoyed an all-star career.

In the Professional Ranks: Brown starred for eight seasons in the NFL as a member of the Minnesota Vikings squad from 1979-86. He scored 53 career touchdowns (40 rushing and 13 receiving), the fifth-best mark in Viking history. His 4,546 career rushing yards ranks third in the history of that franchise.

RETIRED JERSEYS

ALL-AMERICANS

81

TORRY HOLT (WR)

At NC State: Torry Holt was a human highlight film for NC State from 1995-98, and culminated his career by being named a consensus

All-American. Holt rewrote the NC State record books, setting single game, single season and career records in almost every passing category. He also set an ACC record with 3,379 reception yards for his career. The two-time All-ACC performer was named the ACC Player of the Year and Offensive Player of the Year following his senior campaign, and was also a finalist for the Biletnikoff Award, honoring the nation's top wide receiver. His jersey was retired on Jan. 16, 1999 during halftime ceremonies of the final NC State-UNC basketball contest that was played in Reynolds Coliseum.

In the Professional Ranks: Holt was a first-round draft pick of the Saint Louis Rams in 1999, the sixth selection overall, and has already made the Pro Bowl six times. He won a Super Bowl ring during his rookie campaign, and in the process set Super Bowl rookie records with seven catches and 109 receiving yards. He was the first player in NFL history to record five straight seasons with 1,300 receiving yards, and he was the fifth-fastest in NFL history to 5,000 yards and fourth-fastest to 500 career receptions. Played with the Jacksonville Jaguars in 2009 and signed with New England Patriots for 2010.

DENNIS BYRD (DL)

At NC State: Dennis Byrd was a dominating presence for the Wolfpack's famed "White Shoes" defense, competing on the defensive line for NC State from 1965-67. An adept pass rusher who combined size, agility, strength and a desire for hitting, Byrd was the Pack's first consensus All-American, earning honors in 1967. He was also the first three-time All-ACC player in league history, earning accolades all three years that he lettered. As a junior, he led the voting for All-ACC lineman and after his senior campaign, participated in four college all-star games.

Byrd will be inducted into the College Football Foundation's Hall of Fame in the December of 2010.

In the Professional Ranks: Byrd was a first-round draft pick of the Boston Patriots of the American Football League in 1968.

BILL YOEST (OG)

At NC State: A consensus All-American guard, Bill Yoest lettered for the Wolfpack from 1970-73 and was the recipient of the 1973 Jacobs Blocking Trophy. A Pittsburgh native, Yoest won All-America honors from the Associated Press, UPI, Football Writers, Football Coaches, NEA and Walter Camp that season. Yoest was selected for two postseason all-star games, the '74 Hula Bowl and the East-West Shrine Game, in which he was elected co-captain of the East squad. His No. 63 was retired at halftime of the North Carolina game, Sept. 27, 2003.

In the Professional Ranks: Played a short stint with the Orlando Blazers of the World Football League and then returned to Raleigh, where he started a financial services business.

PHILIP RIVERS (QB)

At NC State: The 2003 ACC Player of the Year, Philip Rivers started all 51 games at quarterback for the Wolfpack over his four years, an NCAA record. Rivers rewrote the record books for both NC State and the ACC in every passing and total offense category. Rivers ended up the second-leading passer in NCAA history with 13,494 career passing yards and 13,582 career yards of total offense and finished tied for fifth in NCAA history with 95 career TD passes. The Athens, Ala., native capped off his marvelous career with a stellar senior season in which Rivers led the nation with a 72.0 completion percentage and 170.49 pass efficiency rating. Rivers became the first QB in ACC history and only the seventh in NCAA history to throw for 3,000 yards in three different seasons. The MVP of the 2003 Tangerine Bowl with his fifth 400-yard passing day of the year, Rivers was also named the MVP of the Senior Bowl. His jersey, number 17, was retired before his final home game, Nov. 22, 2003.

In the Professional Ranks: A first round draft choice, Rivers was selected by the New York Giants with the fourth pick of the 2004 NFL Draft and was traded to the San Diego Chargers minutes later. He was a 2009 Pro Bowl Selection.

Elmer Costa, Tackle

DR. WILLIAM R. "RANDY" WOODSON, CHANCELLOR

Dr. William R. "Randy" Woodson was named the 14th chancellor of North Carolina State University on Friday, Jan 8, 2010.

Woodson arrived at NC State from Purdue University, where he served as executive vice president for academic affairs and provost. He took on the role of provost in May 2008, after serving nearly four years as the Glenn W. Sample Dean of Agriculture. Prior to that, Woodson was the associate dean of agriculture and director of the Office of Agricultural Research Programs at Purdue from 1998 to 2004.

Woodson's career has been shaped by the land-grant university system, as he has received BS, MS, and PhD degrees in horticulture from the University of Arkansas and Cornell University, respectively. He joined the Purdue faculty in 1985 as a professor in the Department of Horticulture after beginning his academic career at Louisiana State University in 1983.

Prior to his administrative appointments, Woodson served as head of the Department of Horticulture and Landscape Architecture at Purdue and was a visiting scholar at the École Nationale Supérieure Agronomique de Toulouse, France.

Woodson and his research group contributed a substantial body of knowledge to the field of plant science, which is published in over 100 journal articles and book chapters. His research focuses on the biochemical and molecular basis of plant senescence and the role of the plant hormone ethylene in these processes. This research spans the gap between basic plant biochemistry and molecular biology to the application of this knowledge in the field of horticulture.

Discoveries in Woodson's program led to the development of molecular approaches to improve post-harvest storage and shipping of horticultural products, increasing the useful life for the consumer. His research has been featured in stories published in BusinessWeek, The Futurist, and Discover.

Woodson has received a number of professional honors during his career, including the Purdue University Agriculture Research Award, the American Society for Horticultural Science Outstanding Researcher Career Award, and the B.Y. Morrison Medal from the USDA-Agricultural Research Service. He is a fellow of the American Society for Horticultural Science.

Woodson and his wife, Susan, have three children.

NC STATE UNIVERSITY

DEBORAH A. YOW, DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

When it comes to energy, Debbie Yow runs on 220 volts of full-powered current.

Named NC State's director of athletics on June 25, 2010 by Chancellor Randy Woodson, Yow laid out a comprehensive and energized vision for the future of the department, which she calls "Wolfpack Unlimited." Her expectations are clear and concise:

- Every sport with a full complement of scholarships should be among the nation's top 25, working towards the top 10 and competing for conference and national championships.

- Every student-athlete should be given the opportunity and resources to be as successful in the classroom as the field of competition.

- Every alumni and supporter should be treated as a valued customer, with dedicated service resources from athletics department personnel.

Yow is well-known for running a fiscally responsible department, while also providing the resources her coaches and student-athletes need to be competitive on the highest levels of college athletics. And those are her expectations for the future of NC State.

"We can become what we believe we can become, if we rally the Wolfpack family to lock arms as a collective force and move forward in a united way," said the veteran administrator, who spent the last 16 years successfully guiding the University of Maryland athletics department. "In fact, that's the only way we can reach these challenging goals I have for NC State.

"We will work hard. We will work smartly. I will listen and learn about the challenges we face in order to make wise choices. But the only limitations we have are those we place on ourselves."

Yow knows the importance of her position, leading the gateway department of the largest institution of her home state. The ACC's first female athletics director also knows NC State's reputation as a pioneering program that first established basketball as a dominant sport in the South, was the first to integrate varsity athletics in the Atlantic Coast Conference and was the first public school in the state to dedicate full resources to women's athletics.

Hardly unfamiliar to Wolfpack fans, the native of Gibsonville, N.C., has been deeply connected to NC State since her youth, when her parents, Hilton and Libby Yow, introduced their three daughters and one son to college athletics. At the time, that meant legendary basketball coach Everett Case's fast-breaking style that dominated the early days of ACC basketball.

Later, she watched her older sister, Kay, become the first full-time women's coach in the state of North Carolina, when she was hired by then-athletics director Willis Casey to coach NC State's first three women's sports: basketball, volleyball and softball.

For the next 34 years, Kay Yow served primarily as the Wolfpack women's basketball coach, winning four ACC championships during her Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame career. Debbie Yow faced her sister as an opposing coach and opposing administrator. Their youngest sister, Susan, spent her senior season playing for the Wolfpack and became the school's first women's basketball All-America selection.

Debbie followed in Kay's footsteps, first as a high school coach at Burlington's Williams High School and Gibsonville's Eastern Guilford High before becoming the women's basketball coach at the University of Kentucky in 1976. She also coached at Oral Roberts and Florida, before switching career paths to become an administrator, at both Florida and UNC Greensboro. In 1989, she was named the athletics director at Saint Louis, then moved to the University of Maryland in 1994.

Under her leadership, Maryland's 27 varsity programs won a remarkable 20 national championships and consistently graduated student-athletes, including an all-time high federal graduation rate of 80 percent in her final year at the school.

At NC State, Yow leads a program that includes 23 varsity sports, revenue of about $40 million and 172 full-time employees.

Yow has served as president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics and the national Division I-A Athletic Directors Association. She is a member of the National Football Foundation board of directors, as well as the USA Football board of directors and has served on the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Academic Enhancement Committee, as well as having represented the ACC on the NCAA Management Council.

Both Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal and the Chronicle of Higher Education have cited Yow as being among the 20 most influential people in college athletics. She was selected to serve on the President's U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations. She earlier served as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television, which is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and other related broadcast issues.

Like her older sister, Yow has been inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame.

After taking over as athletics director at Maryland in 1994, she and her senior staff led efforts to enhance the academic support services for student-athletes, leading to an improved graduation rate (Exhausted Eligibility Graduation Rate is 85 percent); expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts, yielding a more than 300 percent increase in private gifts and corporate sponsorships; and led a $180 million upgrade of athletic facilities, including the building of the 440,000 square foot Comcast Center as the new home for intercollegiate athletics and the expansion of Byrd Stadium, the home to Maryland football.

When she took over the Maryland program, it carried an unfunded debt of $51 million, which has since been paid down to $5.5 million, while consistently balancing the annual operating budgets, funding the facility improvements and winning national championships.

In 2009, the NCAA News named Maryland as one of the Top 10 athletics programs in the nation.

Yow has written numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior. She holds a bachelor's degree from Elon University and a master's degree from Liberty University. She also has been awarded honorary doctorates for professional achievement from Elon, Liberty and the United States Sports Academy.

She has been married to Dr. William W. Bowden since 1983.

Yow is excited that her long, winding path in college athletics has now returned her to the state where she was born and the school where her sister remains a beloved icon of athletics. And she's energized about leading the Wolfpack to even greater heights.

"It's good to be home," Yow said. "I know, with every fiber of my being, that we can continue to build on NC State's tradition of athletics excellence. I am fired up about the future of Wolfpack athletics."
